Thanks, I appreciate that. I did not intend to create any confusion, and I apologize if I did.

Realizing that I have reviewed the EFMP several times, what I am about to say is NOT intended to be a criticism of anyone, but something to think about for all of us:

We have never really discussed the regs by taking a look at them together or sharing them with the public in any kind of direct fashion. They've been buried in documents. I realize that we've never had to deal with this before, but we should prob revisit them at some pt. in isolation. In addition, there are other policies/regs in this document, which again are just covered in a blanket fashion, which don't appear to have been updated/reviewed in recent years.

And in the document in general: Now that I look more closely at the dates on the pages, a LOT of them haven't been updated in a long time. The page about School Campus Concept, for example, is dated April, 18, 1988. I was still in high school, and that was my parents' 18th wedding anniversary. Because these pages don't reflect the heart of the document, a lot of us skim through those pages to the meat, but we really should look more carefully and consider updating, in my opinion.

Jenn,

Thanks. I just wanted everyone to know that the regs do exist.

Steve,

Thanks. I think what concerns me about the way we've done it is adopted it in a blanket fashion with the Ed Fac Master Plan. Because we've never had to worry about this in the past, that may have been ok. But, in light of potential future closings, we may want to pull it out at some pt for review and discussion, as we do with other regs/policies.
